

Boys' High School (1872-1947) Records, 1879-1954 and no date.

102 folders, original loose papers, printed material (some photocopied), and graphics. 7 cubic feet and 10 oversized folders.

Donor: Boys' High School Alumni Association (Mr. James G. Nichols) and Gaines W. Walter

These Boy's High School records consist of faculty registers, class record books, student absentee lists, account books, directories, surveys, student maps, school programs, publications, and graphics. All artifacts have been removed from the collection and placed in the "Artifacts collection?"

Originally located at Whitehall Street in Atlanta, Boys' High School officially opened its doors in 1872. The school moved several times, to Courtland and Gilmer Streets in 1896, and finally to Parkway Drive at 10th Street in 1924. Portable structures were later added and shared with Tech High School. Boys' High School gave way to progressive education in 1947 when Atlanta's Public Schools became coeducational. Prominent alumni, featured in newspaper articles and photographs, are Georgia Governor John M. Slaton (class of 1880), Lucien Lamar Knight, founder of the Georgia Archives and History (class of 1883), and Dean Rusk, former U.S. Secretary of State (class of 1925).

Acquisition information: This collection was obtained by Professor Waters, former teacher at Boys High School, and maintained in his home

Folder listing:

Series One: Student Attendance and Scholastic Records, 1879-1945. 40 folders. Original loose papers and printed material (some photocopied). 2 cubic feet.

Most of these student attendance and scholastic records were maintained by the faculty of Boy's High School and sent to the principal daily or weekly to determine student graduation or failure. Entries in folder 1-05 and 1-11 describe student behavior and the resulting corporal punishments. The sampling of maps drawn by history students found in folder 1-29 indicates a diversity of grades and student progress.

Series 2: Boys' High School Publications (1909-1947), 1883-1947. 34 folders. Original loose papers and printed items. 2.5 cubic feet and 9 oversized folders

There is a complete compilation of the school newspaper, The Tatler, 1909-1947. During 1916-1919, The Tatler was inactive. Underground newspapers, e.g., Flypaper, 1927-1928; Bugle, 1910, 1938-1944, and no date; The Ratler, 1932-1934; and Outlaw, 1944-1945, competed with The Tatler. There are only two yearbooks, The Alciphronian, 1922 and 1936. Articles describing the history of Boys' High School appear in The Tatler issues of February 1, 1932, May 26, 1937, and June 2, 1947. The Atlanta Historical Society has additional Alciphronians.

Series 3: Boys' High School Prints, 1911, 1924-1925, 1935-1947. 12 folders, Graphics. 1 cubic foot and one oversized folder

Most of the prints in this series are from Alciphronian yearbooks, 1941-1947. Included are prints of faculty, honor societies, groups, and individual students. Since the honor society prints were deteriorating and had to be removed from large frames, composites were reproduced to show their original format.
